Who hasn't dreamed at least once to lie down on the sandy beach of San Diego, to swim in the crystal water or to enjoy a cocktail while taking a sun bath? For most people, San Diego is definitely an amazing tourist attraction. Nevertheless, there are more than beaches in this city. If you don't think so, just take a look at the following list with 7 things to do in San Diego.

1. If you're looking for fun you can go to the Seaport Village. Free entertainment and window shopping is what you'll find here. Moreover, you can dine in an eating place with bay-views or you can watch the beautiful yachts while laying on the grass.
2. You can see an organ concert if you go to the Spreckels Organ Pavillion situated in the Balboa Park. For this you have to go there on Sundays at 14.00. Here you can see one of the largest pipe organs in the world, a real landmark for San Diego.
3. For a little bit of history go in the Old Town and admire the historic buildings like Estudillo House, Stewart House, Seeley Stables and blacksmith shop.
4. If you're into sports you can go to the U.S. Olympic Training Center. Free tours are provided by this center located in Chula Vista. Self tours or guided tours are at your choice. The training tracks, the athlete dorms, the training fields and the Otay Lake Reservoir can all be observed here.
5. If you wish to get some peace and relaxation go into the Mission Trails Regional Park. The San Diego's history, tales about the beautiful nature and guidelines for the park can be found at the Visitor's Center. Biking and hiking are only some of the things you can do in the park.
6. On the same topic of gorgeous parks we can include the Balboa Park. It's going to amaze you with its architecture with Spanish Colonial Revival influences. Concerts, gardens and no less than 15 museums can be seen here.
7. The Torrey Pines State Reserve is ideal for some bird watching. Located close to the Torrey Pines State Beach, this site is home for numerous species such as thrashers, wrentits, swifts and woodpeckers.
